Ex-Senator Thurman's Parewell Speech. venerable ex-Senator Thurma made a speech to the Democracy of Hardin county, Ohio, last Saturday, which he himself characterized as his probable last political speech -his farewell address, so

Such an address should have been very carefully considered and worded, one would think. The Senator has been a noted man in his day, and has exercised an unusual amount of influence in the ranks of his party, and his last words should. therefore, have risen above the level o the ordinary political harangue. But do they rise above that level when he speaks

If the Rapublican leaders want to put It the Republican leaders want to put an end to the Solid South they have the casicet way in the world to do it. They can do it in a brief enough time I assure you. All they have to do is to cease to create, and to seek to perpetuate, a solid North, and the solid South will discalar.

This advice is specious but nevertheless fallacious. The South, in the first place is not solid politically. It is made to have the appearance of solidity by coercion and fraud, just as by the same means it was made to be solld for secession an war in 1861. There are hundreds of thouands of votes in the South that are sup pressed in order to obtain its solid also toral vote. This is the radical difference between a golid North and a solid South This is not a mere Republican affirms tion. It is a matter that is both acknowledged and even beasted of in the South More than this, it is justified openly, in print and cut, on the ground that the South can not afford to let this suppressed vote be cast, or be counted as it desires Until Judge Thurman notices and dis poses of this all important feature of the solidity of the South his words are not en titled to favorable consideration. He is too well acquainted with the state of affairs in the South to believe for a mo ment that there is an exact parallel between the solidity of the two sections. He advises the North to disintegrate and segregate politically. He does not advise the South to do anything of the kind. And yet no man knows better than he that but for the solid South there would be no possibility of a solid North.

As a matter of fact there is no Solid Electoral North, as it is. There were four influential Northern States that voted for Cleveland in 1881, but there was no Southern State that voted for Blaine, although as every well informed person knows the States of Missiesippi and South Carolinia ero just an certainly Republican in sentiment as Massachucette and Ver the south if the ballot was respected. Force and frand can not rule at the North but they do rule in the South. The irrefatable facts prove that this is the difference between voting in the two sections.

The antecedents of the giver of this advice should be remembered. Senator Thurman is one of the men who during the war thought the war on the South ought to stop. His ndvice then as now was, quit fighting you. Of course she would have quit. Nobody ever doubted that. All the speeches of Senator Thurman will show that the North was in the wrong the the word was provided the following the stop. His ndvice then as now was, quit fighting you. No such goods were ever before offered to the American public. They excel in quality and fineness of wool, in softness and delicacy of texture in the various weights, from the lightest summer quality to the heaviest for winter wear. And the peculiar mode of weaving the Stocknet of which they are all constructed, imparts an elasticity with life and freshness not to be found in goods of any other manufacture. The Natural Grey Wool is used, and being wholly undyed and of the finest quality, its softness recommends it to the most sensitive. Each garment is made double over the chest and abdomen, thus affording needed protection at all times to the vital organs and conducing to the general health.
